

BETTINA VUONG

Colour Grading

Bettina Vuong is a Sydney-based colourist with a sharp eye for tone, mood and story. Starting out as an editor, it didn't take long before she found her true obsession: colour grading.

She's worked across TVCs, documentaries, films and branded content for clients including Uber, Samsung, Qantas, Woolworths and eBay - building a reel that blends commercial polish with a cinematic vibe.

A graduate of the Australian Film, Television and Radio School (AFTRS), Bettina brings both technical precision and storytelling intuition to every project. It's the power of grading - to shape narrative, heighten emotion and guide the viewer's eye - that keeps her coming back to the craft, frame after frame.
